

RESTAURANTS

Restaurant serving up $1,000 pastrami sandwich in honor of Super Bowl

 Eyewitness News

Thursday, February 01, 2018 07:21PM

CEDARHURST, Long Island (WABC) -- The Super Bowl is motivating one Long Island restaurant to create 'the big sandwich.'

DOMA Land and Sea in Cedarhurst will be serving a $1,000 pastrami sandwich in honor of the big game.

The 'KingDOMA' sandwich includes Glenlivet-brined primed beef, foie gras, black and white truffles, Champagne-infused mustard, a gold leaf and a flute of champagne to wash it all down.

Watch as executive chef Oscar Martinez explains and walks through how the $1,000 sandwich is made:

EMBED

MORE NEWS VIDEOS ▶

Watch as executive chef Oscar Martinez explains and walks through how the $1,000 sandwich is made.

The restaurant's manager says they needed something to match the hype of the Super Bowl.

See photos of the sandwich here:

The sandwich will be on the restaurant's menu through Monday. If you plan on indulging in the extravagant sandwich, it must be ordered at least two hours in advance and the restaurant will take a $100 deposit by credit card.